Scenic Cycling Routes

The fabulous sights of Albany await you, and cycling is an ideal way of seeing some of amazingAlbany's hidden treasures! The following routes will take you around glorious harbours, past pristine beaches and give you glimpses of wildlife and wildflowers. Please note that some of the routes traverse high traffic, high speed roads that may not be designed with cyclists in mind, so please cycle with care. All route distances have been estimated from Middleton Beach Surf Club and the times are based on an average recreational speed.

WindFarm

This 30km/2hr route takes in one of Albany's newest attractions and some spectacular coastal views.

Follow the same route as Whales & Waves until you're a few km along the Frenchman Bay shared path. Look out for Princess Avenue and the sign for the Albany Wind Farm. Turn right here then left after 1km, to avoid going to gaol! Be prepared for a peak at the majestic, jumbo-sized blades of the wind turbines as you attempt some steep hill climbs. If the sight of the windmills doesn't take your breath away, the hills might! Return the same way, or take a diversion through the pretty Robinson Estate via Roberts, Racecourse and Robinson Roads.

Whales & Waves

A 60 km/4 hrs return journey to some of Albany's most famous icons, one man-made, the others natural!

Follow the incredibly scenic boardwalk west towards the Albany Port, but take Brunswick Road at the end of the trail for a short, quieter route through town. Stay with it as it changes name to Stirling Terrace, past the historic precinct, crossing York Street then following Festing Street before it meets Princess Royal Drive where you turn right. At Frenchman Bay Road turn left, you'll find the shared-use path about 500m from the corner, then you'll be on flat terrain for a good while. The Yacht Club is an ideal spot to take a break and wet your whistle before finding Frenchman Bay Road again. A short steady climb for a few km will have you ready to turn left into Quararup Road for a spell. Turn right at Shoal Bay Rd, then link into McBride Road and into Goode Beach (with some good hills!) and a left & right onto Whaling Station Road, where you'll find the iconic Whale World. Once you've restored your energy there, follow Frenchman Bay Road back up the hill then take Salmon Holes Road left to check out the pounding southern ocean. You can return the same way, or continue the climb up Frenchman Bay Road to check out the blow-holes and the natural bridge before finding the path at the general store. Be vigilant on the rocks and the roads!

Wildflowers & Wildlife

This eastward journey around the outskirts of Oyster Harbour and over two bridges to the habitat of the endangered Noisy Scrub Bird is 30 km (one way) and takes about 4 hours to ride there and back.

Take Flinders Parade east and head towards Emu Point on the secluded shared path that twists among the coastal peppermint trees. Go left at Griffiths Street and follow the path across Emu Point Drive and Collingwood Road, then onto Brewster. You might have to disembark at the end as there's a steep zigzag that takes you to Lower King Road. There's a shared path all the way to the Lower King Bridge, but thereafter you're on the road (Nanarup). Stop at Lower King Bridge, and look back towards town through Oyster Harbour. Continue along Nanarup Road for another 6 km before Turning left into Two Peoples Bay Road. At the end you'll find Two People Bay Nature Reserve and a lovely shady area in which to enjoy a picnic after a refreshing swim.

Go Cycle Albany

Albany's mild climate is ideal for cycling. Rarely too wet, and almost never too hot, cycling in Albany is an all year round activity. The many kilometres of sealed shared-use paths will take you to some of AmazingAlbany's most prized sites and sights. Use this map to better plan and enjoy your cycle journey.

Why Cycle?

Cycling is a great way to;

- Stay healthy
- Look after the environment
- Save money
- See more around Albany
- Have fun

Planning for cycling trips

There are many things you can do to make your cycling trip more enjoyable, but don't forget the essentials;

- Shoes & suitable clothing
- Sunscreen & water
- Pump & repair Kit
- Mobile phone
- Fruit or a light snack
- Bike lock

Rules & Regulations

Bikes are legal vehicles in the eyes of the law, and as such you are required to follow road rules. A bike helmet is not an option...it's a legal safety requirement! A bell or other warning device, and lights (if you're riding at night) are also required by law.

Tips for Roundabouts

Albany is blessed with no traffic lights and lots of roundabouts. These are great for keeping traffic flowing, but can be a little daunting if you're on two wheels. www.urbanbicyclist.org advises cyclists to move into the middle of the lane as you approach a roundabout. As you enter, look around, make eye contact with car drivers, but prepare to move out of the way! Give way to cars on your right, and watch out for cars on your left that may not give way to you. If you're turning right, signal so cars know you're not going straight ahead. Signal when exiting the roundabout.

Ride2Work

Ever thought about riding to work but weren't sure about how long it might take? Use the concentric ring system on the map as a guide to help you work out how long it might take you to ride from your home to work. Riding to work can save lots of $ and greenhouse gas emissions, as well as whittle away the kilos that may accumulate over time. If your workplace does not provide showering facilities, Albany Rest Rooms at the corner of York Street & Stirling Terrace provides free hot showers. Other community facilities with free hot showers are located at Emu Point and Middleton Beach. Check out www.ride2work.com.au for tips on riding to work.

ABUG

ABUG: Albany Bicycle Users Group was formed in early 2006 and has taken an active role in promoting cycling in Albany and encouraging local government to provide better cycling facilities. This map is one such example, which has been part funded by the City of Albany and the Department of Planning & Infrastructure through the Country Pathways Scheme. ABUG members volunteered their time to plan the map.

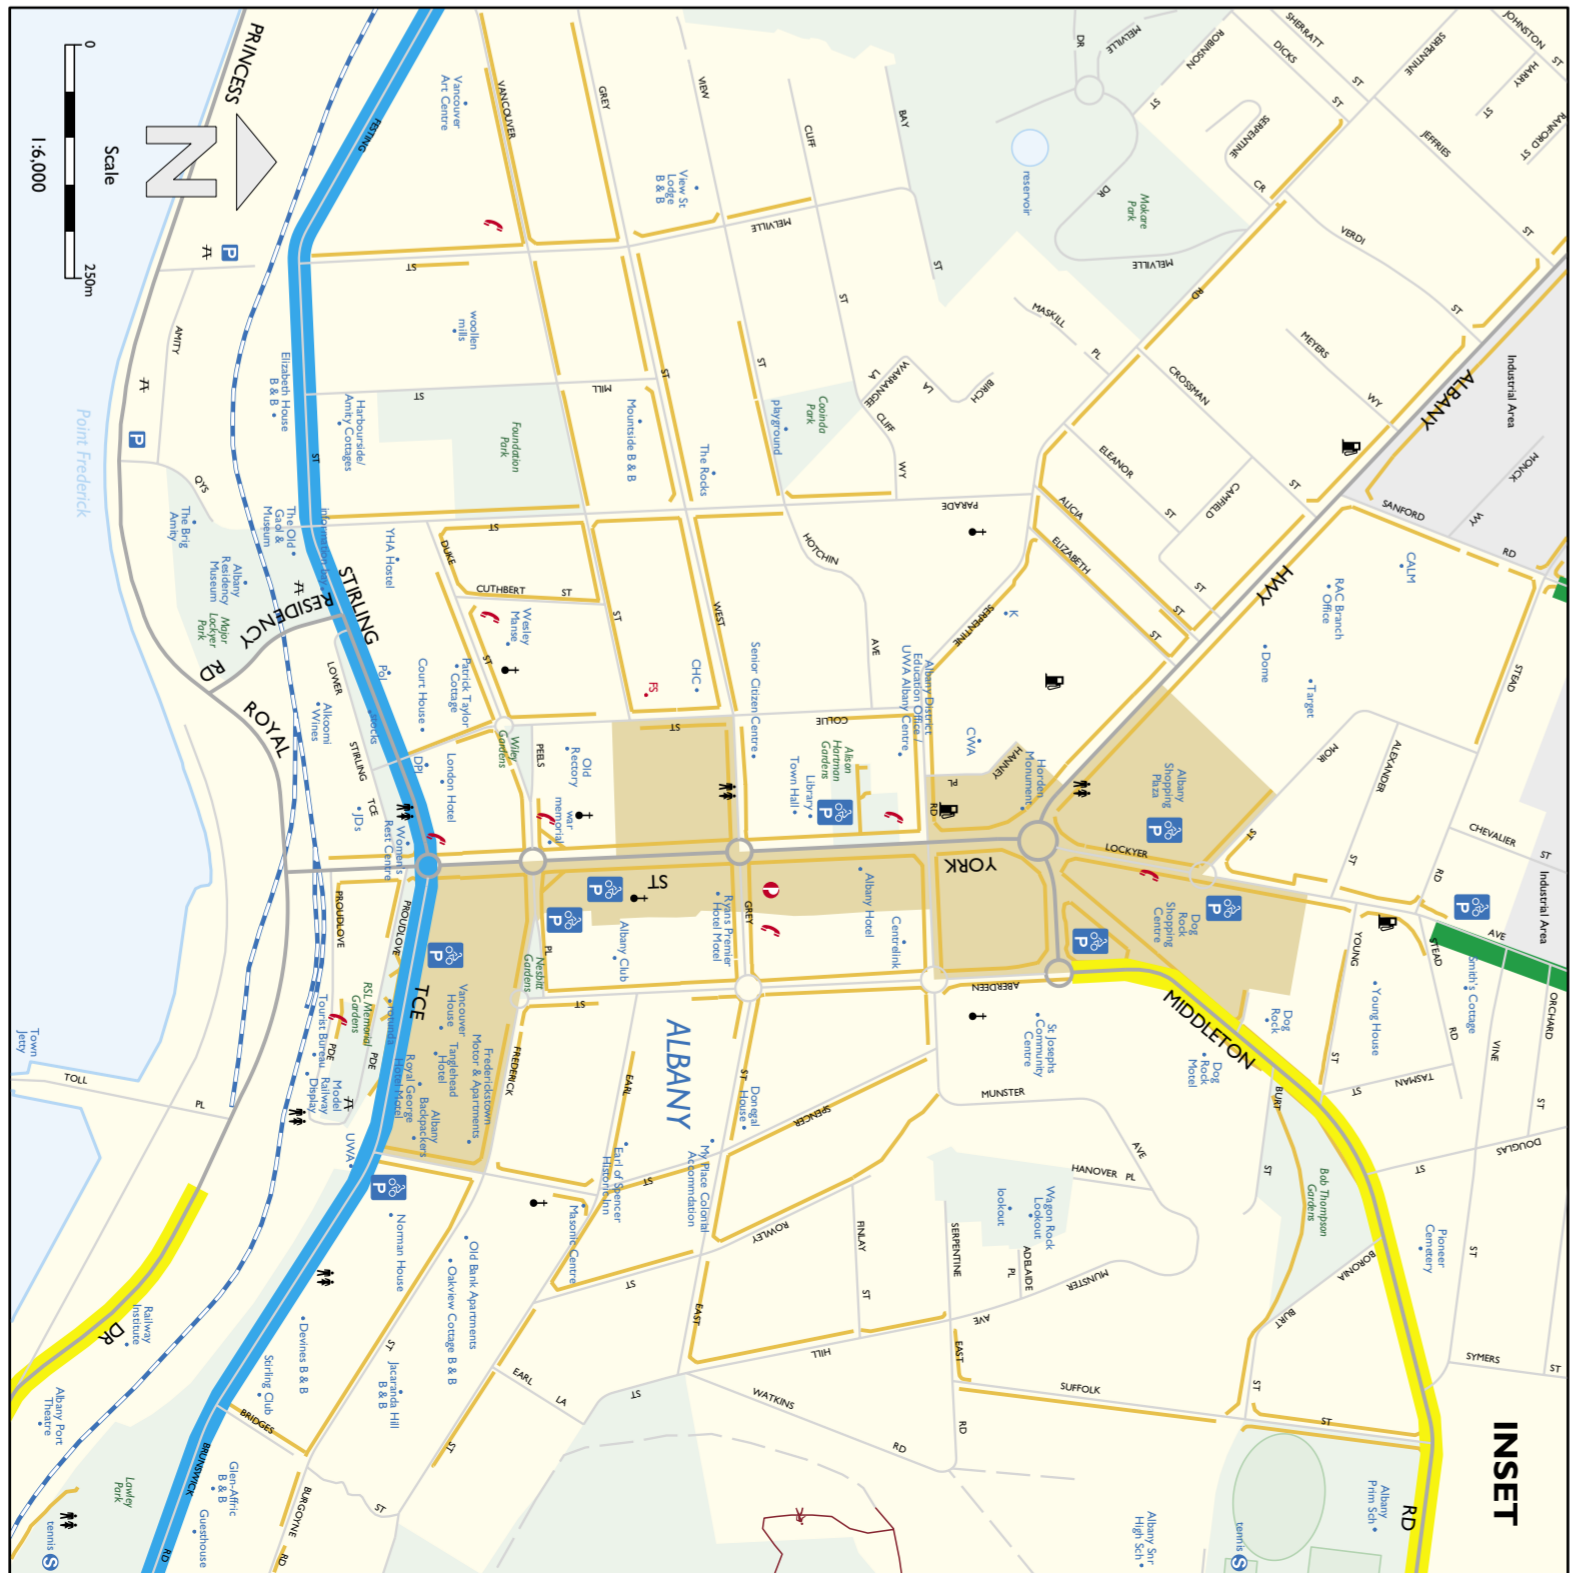

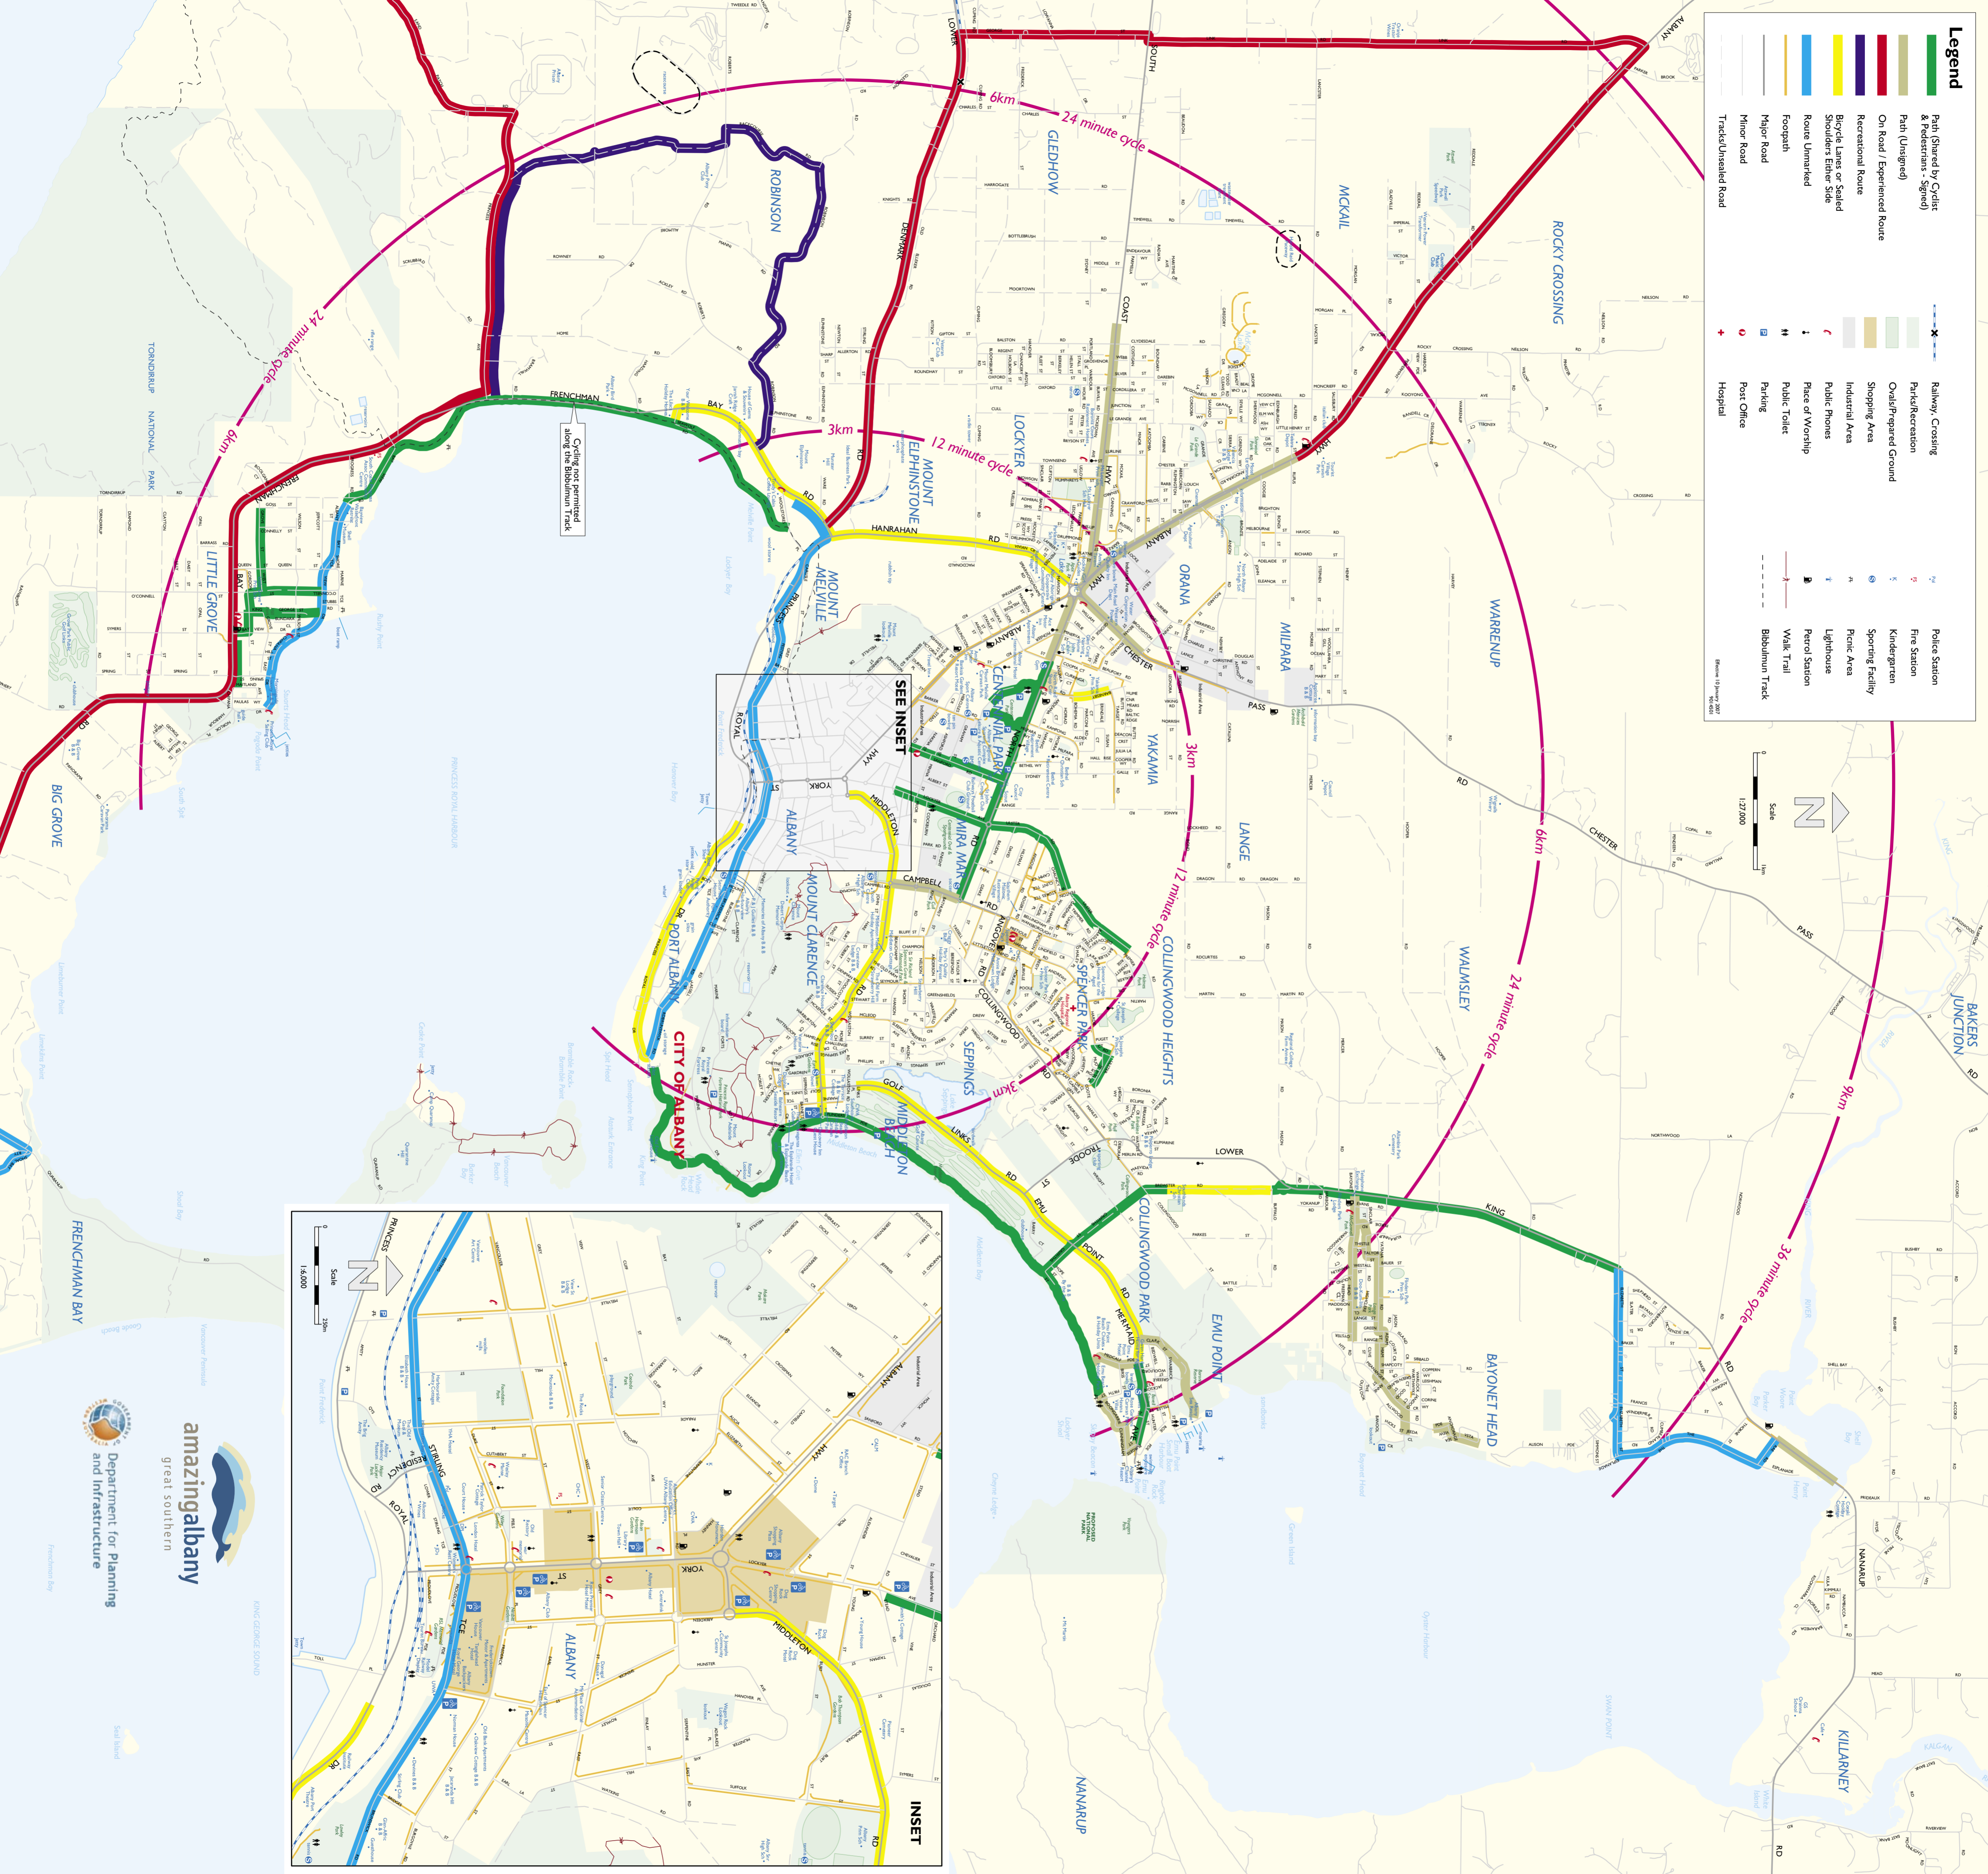

While all care has been taken to ensure the accuracy of the information and suitability of the pedestrian and bicycle facilities described herein, users of this publication and of the facilities do so at their own risk. The Department for Planning and Infrastructure, Minister for Planning and Infrastructure and the City of Albany do not accept liability for any inaccuracies contained herein, or any damage, injury or other consequences arising from the use of this publication or use of the pedestrian and bicycle facilities.
