Many four-wheel drive (4WD) tracks in West Cape Howe National Park cross steep hills and have stretches of deep sand. Please take note of these simple tips that will save the tracks from being churned up and eroded further:

- Reduce tyre pressure for soft and sand driving, remember to inflate when leaving the park.
- Engage 4WD before you reach the sand and keep to existing tracks.

For your safety

- Don't speed along narrow, one lane tracks and sound your horn when approaching corners and ridges.

WEST CAPE HOWE NATIONAL PARK

The most southerly point of Western Australia

Take care
 Keep your personal safety in mind at all times. Caution is required in any natural environment with potentially hazardous terrain and the national parks are no exception.

Stand back from rocky headlands and cliff edges. Many areas within the parks have steep, rocky slopes and much of the rock is loose and crumbly.

Choose fishing or swimming sites with great care. The Southern Ocean has powerful rips and currents and is unpredictable, making rock fishing and swimming especially dangerous. Huge waves and swells can suddenly occur without warning even on calm days. Always watch the ocean. Cliff edges can crumble or be slippery. Fishing from rocks is especially dangerous. Stay well clear of cliff edges and coastal rocks. Riptides are common along the coastline.

The park has some of the most spectacular natural scenery on the coast.

THE GAP & NATURAL BRIDGE
 Two natural features carved from ancient granite by the forces of nature. The Gap features a 25 metre sheer drop to the ocean.

JIMMY NEWHILLS HARBOUR
 A small protected harbour named after a fisherman driven into the inlet by a sudden squall.
